“Highlights from Scientific Projects and Opportunities Encountered
Thanks to U-Tokyo”

Kyle Mede (Department of Astronomy (UTokyo))

This past 5+ years at U-Tokyo has been exciting and rewarding. As a final farewell , I shall give a compact version of my PhD dissertation defense and review some of the other interesting scientific projects in the field of exoplanetary studies, and the travels encountered along the way. Thus, this will not be a strictly scientific talk, and rather a more encompassing summary of my time at U-Tokyo and future plans. I will do my best to make it entertaining and intellectual, while avoiding it become a boring slide show. Hope to see you there!
